

Testimony in Support of Senate Bill 165
Juvenile Court – Jurisdiction
Ending Automatic Charging of Youth as Adults
January 27, 2022
Favorable

Dear Chairman Smith and Honorable Members of the Committee:

On behalf of Strong Future Maryland, we write in strong support of Senate Bill 165. Strong Future Maryland works to advance bold, progressive policy changes to address systemic inequality and promote a sustainable, just and prosperous economic future for all Marylanders. We urge you to support this legislation as part of our efforts to address discriminatory practices leading to the overincarceration of Black youth and in the state of Maryland and to ensure that everyone in our justice system is treated fairly, equitably, and the kids are provided with rehabilitative services that will help them succeed.

In Maryland, youth as young as 14 can be tried in adult court depending on what charge a police officer decides to levy against them. When young people are automatically charged in adult court, they are more likely to re-offend, sooner, with more violent crime than children who are charged in juvenile court. This practice undermines the purpose of the juvenile court system, pursues punishment rather than rehabilitation, and conflicts with what we know from developmental science. Furthermore, laws that allow youth to be tried in adult court reflect and reinforce the racial inequities that characterize the justice system in the United States.

The Justice System is Biased Against Youth of Color

Youth of color are overrepresented at every stage of the Maryland court system.¹ Rampant racial inequities are evident in the way youth of color are disciplined in school, policed and arrested², detained, sentenced, and incarcerated.³ These inequities persist even after controlling for variables like offense severity and prior criminal record. Research shows that youth of color receive harsher sentences than white youth charged with similar offenses.⁴ Youth of color are more likely to be tried as adults than white youth, even when being charged with similar crimes. In Maryland between 2017-2019, 93% of juveniles tried as adults were youth of color; 80% were Black.⁵

“Tough on Crime” Laws Criminalize Youth and Make Us Less Safe

Research shows that “tough on crime” policy shifts during the 1980s and 1990s have negatively impacted youth, families, and communities of color. These laws were fueled by high-profile criminal cases involving youth, sensationalized coverage of system-involved youth by the media, and crusading politicians who warned that juvenile “super-predators” posed a significant threat to public safety. The general sentiment — not based on research or data — across the political spectrum was that treatment approaches and rehabilitation attempts did not work.

However, time has shown that harshly punishing youth by trying them in the adult system has failed as an effective deterrent. Studies have found higher recidivism rates among juveniles tried and sentenced in adult court than among youth charged with similar offenses in juvenile court.

We can and must treat our children better. Maryland should join the 26 other states who have passed laws to treat kids like kids and end automatic charging. Strong Future Maryland urges this committee to issue a favorable report on SB 165.
